

Support at every step.

West Bay balusters are produced from Western Red Cedar, providing a reliable and long-lasting solution for your building project.

FEATURES

Western Red Cedar is naturally resistant to moisture, decay, and insect damage, so it's manufactured to last, and it won't let you down.

That's important, because for such a small piece of wood, balusters have a big job. They're responsible for adding support and safety to railings, stairs, and other structures — so you'll want something you can trust.
